

Director's Note

Hello friends,

It is HOT. But the library is cool! The summer I was ten, I was allowed to ride my bike from North Meridian down to the Newberg Public Library by myself on my pink banana-seat bike. Bike helmets were a thing of the future, but after an accident the year before I always wore closed-toed shoes for safety. I remember the Children's Library being dark (thanks to the 1980's brown and orange décor), deliciously cold, and quiet. I felt so grown up as I chose my chapter books (Beverly Cleary, Betsy Byars, and Robert Newton Peck), sat and read in the weird 1980's contraption that I slid down when no one was looking, and eventually made my way home in the afternoon heat.

I feel nostalgic for all the time I had to sit and read. But when I look at our library today, I feel so grateful for the way we have grown and changed with the community. We serve more than 14,000 more people just in Newberg, our Children's Library is bright, welcoming, and busy with learning, play, and socialization. We have adult and teen Summer Reading Programs now as well as those for children, and the professional staff to maintain those programs. We offer so much more than books, but we are still cool! Hop on your bike (ahem, with a helmet) and come on down. Did I mention we can provide you a bike lock while you are here? Just ask at the Circulation Desk!

With gratitude,
Korie
